ME SEVADA STAGE ROBBERS

In accordance with official instruc-ons secured from the Sheriff of Lander county, Nevada, suspicions parties arriving at Lone Pine last week were ed under surveillance by Sheriff placed under surveillance by Sherid Elder and his deputies, which resulted in the arrest of two Mexicans, named Manuel Moreno and Louis Manilo, alias "Muchacha," for stopping the stage from Austin to Battle Mountain, alba eight of November 28, and takon the night of November 28, and takon the high same of bullion, valued at 20,ing five bars of the bullion in a light started from Lone Pine in a light ragon, in charge of the two prisoners. bringing them to the county jail at this place. When about half way, at a ee known as " Point of Rocks. wagon was stopped by a party of per-haps fifteen or twenty men, who levelhaps fifteen or twenty men, who level-ed guns upon the party and requested that the prisoners be delivered up to them. Separating and placing a guard over falcott and Columbo, who were relieved of their arms, the befunce of the party proceeded with the prisoners eastward toward the river for a distance freehaps a mile. Of course the offiof perhaps a mile. Of course the offi-cers know nothing of what was done with them, but according to the story with them, but according to the story of the prisoners, they were tied, blind-folded and separated—the self organized inquisitors dividing itsulf into two parties, each with a prisoner; a rope was piaced around the neck of each, and then followed strangling and threats, in attempts to extert from them a confession as to the wherea-bouts of the bullion. Each were shown at this place next day. The prisoners claim to be able to establish an allbi, claim to be able to establish an alloi, but admit the perfect right of officers to arrest and hold them, saying they are the persons described by the Nevada officers, but very reasonably object to being deprived of the protection of the law and lynched. We have given the account as we believe to be correct, and refrain from comments.—

DEATH FROM EXPOSURE.-A letter received from Captain Rock, of Belmont, dated December 20, states that Ezra H. Van Decar, P. G. H. P. of California, was found dead near Cloverdale, in Nye county. Captain Rock mys that Mr. Van Decar arrived in Belmont about the 20th of November. He had two horses on which he pack-ed his blankets, etc. About the 1st of December he left for California, and he appears to have got lost and wan-dered through the western part of Nye county until he got to Cloverdale, where it is believed he died from cold. His remains were taken to Ione, where they were interred. It is supposed that deceased was somewhat dement-ed, for he got lost twice last Summer while going from Silver Park to Bel-

[Inyo Independent, 19th.

Mr. Van Deenr was long a resident of Auburn, Placer County, California, and we believe was Judge of the County Court there. He lived in Austin in early times. We understand that he was possessed of some property in the State of New York, and our exchanges in that State would confer a favor to his relatives by publishing a notice of his death.—[It. R. Reveille.

Ir seems that breech-loading cannon are not of modern origin. The Pana-ma Star and Herald speaks of an interview lately had with two Americans just returned from the descried site of the celebrated gold mines of Cano, in Panama. Among other interesting remains our two Americans found near he old fort four or five brass breech loading cannon, which were manufac-tured at Barcelona, and bore date of RRODE ISLAND boasts of having within her borders the largest room in the world. It is 750 feet long by 76 feet wide. The building which contains this room well nigh overs the entire State, being 2,100 feet by 750, and is intended for a cotton mill.

ABOUT JET.

This bituminous mineral which is now being manufactured so extensively into useful and ornamental articles, takes its name from the river Gages, from the banks of which it was probfrom the banks of which it was probably first obtained. It was first called "Gamtes," afterward "Gag.," and inally very properly corrupted into "Jet." Now, however, it is found in many parts of the world. The finest quality that comes to us from Great Britain, is obtained at Whitby, in Yorkshire, where it is found mixed with fragments of bituminized wood of coniferous trees, in the Alum Shale of coniferous trees, in the Alum Shale of that district.

Jet, like amber, is electrical when rubled; bence, when found, as it sometimes is by the Prussian amber diggers, it is called black amber. In France large quantities are found in the department of Ande, where mimerous artisans are employed in working it into crosses, rosary, beads, and other beautiful ornaments, which at first were used chiefly for mourning wear. The French jet is very fine, is found in irregular veins in the lower marks of the cretaceous series corresponding with the Sussex gault. Spain, also, furnishes a fine quality of jet, which is found at Villaviciosa, in the province of the Austrias. Jet is easily cut and carved; admits readily of a beautiful polish; is about as hard as our ordinary coal, and is, in fact, only a peculiar form of pitch coal, containing about thirty-seven per cent. of volatile matter,

Jet is supposed to have been worked by the Romans long before the time of the Danes in England; an car ring of a lady, having the form of a heart, with a hole in the upper end for sus-pension from the car, was found lying close to the jawbone in one of the Ro-man tunnell. The manufacture was carried on until the time of Elizabeth, when it suddenly coused, and was not resumed until about the year 1800. Within the last few years the demand for it from the American market has been so great that the wonder is that the inventive genius of the American mind has fulled to find the article in this country, where bituminous matter or petroleum, from which it has its origin, so largely abounds.

Is Youn HAIR DRY ?- At a delegate election held in Woodbury, N. J., prior to the last election, the colored ettizens, having a majority in one of the divisions, elected one of their own race as a representative to the Repub-lican Convention. He was a preacher, what was purported to be the other hanging by the neek, but all failing to elleit from them anything but protestations of innocence. The presentations of innocence. The presentations of innocence. The presentations of innocence. The presentations are that afterward they were told by the men that they knew where the bullion was anyway, and named two places. They were told by the Mexicans that it was "bueno," and to "go there and get it." After some two or three hours absence, the prisoners were returned to the officers, the guard removed, team hitched up, and the party allowed to proceed, who arrived at this place next day. The prisoners an' he was converted from his evil wnys, an' got baptized in the river. Jest as he come out of the water, he began to sing and shout, Halielojah! Hallelojah! Glory to God! All my sins is washed away! An' he kept on shoutin' till one of de sisters standing by laid her hand on his head, an' she said: 'Why, brother, your har ain't dry yet!' Now, gen'imen, I feel jest as that poor redeemed sinner felt; an' bless de Lord, I could now rejoice an I could speak. But I know, sar, my har's not dry yet." Then the old man sat down. He had made a speech, and preached a sermon of wide application.

DIDN'T WANT TO BE LEFT.-Many years ago an American ship sailed from a port in Ireland with a large number of emigrant passengers. After the emigrants were all on board, a head-wind prevented the ship from leaving port, steam-tugs being then unknown. But at length the wind changed, the sails were dropped, and the anchor tripped. The ship was scarcely under way when a young Irishman, looking up through the hatchway, saw that she was in motiou. He rushed on deck in great consiernation. Being ic he way of the sailors engaged in warring he ship, the mate was all that l'at could say, as he rushed frantically from side to side of the ship, "Get out of the way," again roared

"Och ! Och ! Och !" was the only

"Why, what is the matter with you, "Oh! Troth, but I was afraid ye wad go off and lave me while I was down there in the cellar."

MANY beneticial uses have been found for earbolic neld, and naturalists now find that by washing out with it the inside of birds which they have not immediate time to skin and stuff, the birds may be kept a week or more in a sound and flexible condition.

During the prevalence of the kine pest, carbolic acid was largely used as a disinfectant, and farmers have discovered that "ticks" which infest sheep and lambs can be killed by dip-ping the animals in a bath of the acid diluted with water. Great care should be observed not to make the solution too strong, as there is danger that the animals might be killed off along with the tick.

Miss Woodhuny, who is lecturing on temperance in Canada, exhibits a series of pictures illustrating a drunkard's carear. The first painting illus trates a boy sucking elder from a barrel with a straw, which recalls the emocomes to the last picture, showing that same cider-sucker dangling from a scaffold, every body turns sadly away.

THE Frie Railway Company have been testing a new magnetic car brake. It dispenses with the services of a brakeman, can be operated from any part of the train, and acts indepen-dently of all others, so that should one fail it would not interfere with the im-mediate stopping of the train. NEW GOODS
